Crafting Short Screenplays That Connect Claudia H. Johnson
2012-09-10 The only screenwriting book that includes a DVD that contains performances of the short films and screenplays that are featured in the book! The beauty and power of any story lies in its ability to connect to the reader, listener, or observer. Crafting Short Screenplays That Connect is the first screenwriting guide to introduce connection as an essential, although essentially overlooked, aspect of creating stories for the screen and of the screenwriting process itself. Written with clarity and humor, this book teaches the craft of writing short screenplays by guiding the student through carefully focused writing exercises of increasing length and complexity. Eight award-winning student screenplays are included for illustration and inspiration. The text is divided into three parts. Part one focuses on preparing to write by means of exercises designed to help students think more deeply about the screenwriter's purposes; their own unique vision, material and process; and finally about what screenplays are at their simplest and most profound level--a pattern of human change, created from specific moments of change--discoveries and decisions. Part two teaches students how to craft an effective pattern of human change. It guides them through the writing and re-writing of "Five (Not So Easy) Pieces"--five short screenplays of increasing length and complexity--focusing on a specific principle of dramatic technique: The Discovery, The Decision, The Boxing Match, The Improbable Connection, and The Long Short Screenplay. Part Three presents the five screenplays used throughout the book to illustrate the dramatic principles that have been discussed, and includes interviews with the screenwriters, a look at where they are now and what they are doing, and brief discussion of how each film evolved.

Profiles in Curry Biff Jannuzzi 2001-10 If you've ever wanted to meet an astronaut, a famous musician or actor or even a wolfman, welcome to "Profiles in Curry, A Spicy Variety of Conversations and Stories." Broadcaster and talk show host Biff Jannuzzi spent about 25 years talking to people like Wolfman Jack, Steve Allen, Sonny Bono, Johnnie Cochran Jr. as well as Barry Goldwater and gymnast Cathy Rigby. In his career his interviews have included the coroner of Munchkinland, the pilot of the B-17 Memphis Belle, country music rockers "Alabama" and one of the first humans to see the far side of the moon, astronaut James Lovell. Inside you'll find how the author of "The Perfect Storm" almost found out first hand what it feels like to drown. You'll meet a famous stunt pilot who took every safety precaution only to die filming the movie "Top Gun." Madeleine Brown will tell you about the son she had with Lyndon Johnson and his words to her the day before JFK was killed. If you love the movie "It's a Wonderful Life," you'll love meeting a cast member who knows what happens each time a bell rings. Carolyn Grimes will also take us behind the scenes for a glimpse of Jimmy Stewart and Cary Grant as seen through the eyes of a child. "Profiles in Curry" will introduce you to a woman who walked from her home in California, not to the corner store, but to Chicago. You'll meet the man who knows Gomez Addams better than anyone, the creator of the character, character actor John Astin. If you enjoy aviation history you'll want to know how Memphis Belle pilot Robert Morgan and waist gunner Bill Winchell viewed Hollywood's portrayal of their World War II experiences. Winchell tells how he viewed air combat, while Morgan will fill you in on his view of flying and how the United States was truly united during the war. If your interests are more on the sea than in the air, take to the Atlantic Ocean with World War II German battleship Bismarck survivor Bruno Rzonca as he describes the bodies piled on the ship's deck and water, red with blood. He lived to tell Biff Jannuzzi about it as did Lucas Brandolino, who more than ten years later survived the sinking of the cruise ship Andrea Doria. Sonny Bono knew what people first said about him when he went from TV star to congressman. He talks about that in "Profiles in Curry" as well as how an actor with a character name of "Tattoo" helped convince Bono to leave his show business career, or what was left of it. Find out too how bureaucracy with a capital "B" drove him into politics. But "Profiles in Curry" does more than let you eavesdrop on conversations with famous or just plain fascinating folks. In a sometimes serious, sometimes funny and whimsical way, Biff Jannuzzi takes you along on his radio adventure. He'll let you know what a reporter goes through to cover a presidential visit, why some folks are all too happy to talk to media and why it's not a good idea to talk to the person sitting next to you at a murder trial. He'll take you inside a Mexican penitentiary and fortunately back out. Join him and feel the frustration as his station broadcasts a pretty much silent bicycle race on the radio as the racers go 'round, and round, and round Find how saxophonist David Sanborn feels about those who try to label jazz. You'll also get a glimpse of a national political figure who used to travel the long roads of Wyoming. Before he was Secretary of Defense or Vice President of the United States, Biff Jannuzzi covered then-Congressman Dick Cheney and had him on his talk show. Debunker of psychics James "The Amazing" Randi will tell you about one well-known scam he uncovered at a purported faith healing, while "The Amazing" Kreskin will talk to you about the power of suggestion and why there was nothing magical about that flying table. You can go with Biff Jannuzzi behind the scenes of three television shows and find out what it's like to be that not so highly regarded,

Biff's (Broken) Dictionary of Divorce and Custody Biff Johnson
2015-04-01 "Divorce: An unpleasant experience much like undergoing open heart surgery without anesthetic, performed by a drunken bobsledder with a dull scalpel." Divorce can really suck. But, it can also be really funny! This jolly romp through the world of divorce and custody will take you inside the mysterious world of family law and turn it on its head. If you have ever been touched by divorce or by child custody battles, even if it was only your second cousin Harriet's neighbor's uncle's TV repair man, you need this book. Follow Biff through the murky origins of family law, gain enlightenment as he defines important terms, and see how you can apply it as he gives examples. Everything inside is based on real-life experience with the family law system, with occasional hyperbole (but really, not much), proving that life is funny and we can find joy and humor almost anywhere. For those who truly have been touched by divorce, this book is about learning to laugh again. Give yourself permission to laugh at life, yourself and your ex. There is even a section to teach you how. You can use this dictionary whether you live in the US, Europe, Japan or somewhere in between, because people are people no matter what legal jurisdiction you live in and the "definitions" are completely made up anyway. Here is what legal luminaries are saying: "A brilliant legal reference, sure to be the standard for years to come." - Judge Hang M. High "That dadgum @$#! Biff is giving away all our secrets." - Sue M. Now, Esq. "I didn't know that's what I've been saying all these years." - Ima Lawyer, Esq. "I'd like to hire Biff to write all my briefs." - D. Pitt Bull, Esq.

Biff America Jeffrey Bergeron 2016-12-04 Biff America is a wonderfully funny mix of Andy Rooney and Garrison Keillor. From low-flow toilets to prostate pride, knee surgery to avalanche fatalities, gay marriage to schoolyard bullies, Biff America poignantly writes what the American people need to know. Through it all, Biff America has a gift for revealing the uplifting realities of modern life and, sometimes, his humor will make you blow beer through your nose. With an introduction by John Nichols, author of THE MILAGRO BEANFIELD WAR, and copious illustrations of Biff in action. REVIEWS: "Whether it is on stage, in print or on top of a fourteen-thousand-foot summit, Biff America can make you laugh, cry and feel nauseous-all at the same time." -Rachel Dratch, cast member, SATURDAY NIGHT LIVE "Don't let any of that touchy feely crap fool you; Biff America can be a mean drunk, a weasel when confronted and is an unstable individual. He still owes me $67." -Brad Pitt, Baraboo, WI "Biff America's writing is provocative, edgy, insightful and, most important, absorbing. He has a unique gift for mixing comedy with pathos; his observations on life, politics, his family, himself or anything else that strike his fancy are uncannily on point, often with a devilish wit." -NBC "Beneath his blue-collar sensibilities, rough-hewn mountain-town ethos and snort-your-morning-coffee dorm-room humor, Biff America is a surprisingly refined and nuanced writer who finds amazing insights in everyday life. Unrestrained, ribald and slightly off-kilter, he stands as a mad prophet of our times. George W. Bush should read this book." -DENVER POST "The columns in this rich collection form one of the more thoughtful and laugh-provoking journeys that I've taken in a long spell. Think of Lake Wobegon Days meets The Little World of Don Camillo. There's a biting satire aplenty throughout these pages, but it is always couched in a truly humane understanding of our species' tragic-comic fallibility... I found myself repeatedly moved, and moved deeply, by these poignant and funny stories." - John Nichols, author of THE MILAGRO BEANFIELD WAR ABOUT THE AUTHOR: Boston-born writer, comedian and skier, Jeffrey Bergeron, under the alias Biff America, was the recipient of the 2005 Colorado Press Association award for both humor and serious column writing. Recently elected to the Breckenridge City Council on the homeland security and medicinal marijuana platform, Bergeron skis more days than he works and lives in Breckenridge with his hot wife, Ellen. He can be seen on TV, heard on radio, and read regularly in various magazines and newspapers. CONTENTS: Chapter 1: Recreation Chapter 2: Family Chapter 3: People Chapter 4: Dead People Chapter 5: Politics Chapter 6: Connubial Bliss Chapter 7: God Chapter 8: Sex, Love and Body Parts Don't miss out on your Biff fix - get Biff America: Steep, Deep, and Dyslexic today!

Going All the Way Dan Wakefield 2016-02-09 Two friends return home from the Korean War to find their world—and themselves—irrevocably altered in this novel hailed by Kurt Vonnegut as “gruesomely accurate and enchanting” and “wildly sexy” Willard “Sonny” Burns and Tom “Gunner” Casselman, Korean War vets and former classmates, reunite on the train ride home to Indianapolis. Despite their shared history, the two young men could not be more different: Sonny had been an introverted, bookish student, whereas Gunner had been the consummate Casanova and athlete—and a popular source of macho pride throughout the high school. Reunited by the pains of war, they go in search of finding love, rebuilding their lives, and shedding the repressive expectations of their families. As Sonny and Gunner seek their true passions, the stage is set for a wounded, gripping account of disillusionment and self-discovery as seen through the lens of the conservative Midwest in the summer of 1954. Rendered in honest prose, national bestseller Going All the Way expertly and astutely captures the joys and struggles of working-class Middle America, and the risks of challenging the status quo. Author Dan Wakefield crafts this enduring coming-of-age tale with fluidity, grace, and deep humanity.

Wilde West Walter Satterthwait 2012-04-10 A ruthless killer shadows Oscar Wilde across the frontier in this "perfect blend of mystery, satire and travelogue" by the author of Miss Lizzie (Publishers Weekly). An outrageously controversial literary icon in Great Britain, Irish poet, novelist, and playwright Oscar Wilde has taken his act to America in 1882. The renowned wit is thrilling audiences on his tour of the American West, while gleefully soaking in the rugged ambiance of dusty cow towns and rough saloons. But all isn't well on the lecture circuit. At every stop, soon after Wilde's arrival, eviscerated corpses of redheaded prostitutes are turning up—a grim "coincidence" that hasn't been lost on dour, alcoholic federal marshal Bob Grigsby. Apparently there's a serial killer hiding among the writer's traveling entourage: a motley group of managers, servants, and European aristocrats that has lately included the famed gunman John "Doc" Holliday. Between his liaisons with married admirer Elizabeth McCourt Doe and fending off potential assaults by unamused cowboys, the flamboyant dandy decides it might be prudent to assist Grigsby in his investigation. After all, his reputation has already been savaged. Unmasking a killer might help to repair it—as long as the manhunt remains entertaining enough . . . and Wilde lives to quip another day.
