The Secret Life of Groceries

Benjamin Lorr 2021-11-09 "A deeply curious and evenhanded report on our national appetites." --The New York Times In the tradition of Fast Food Nation and The Omnivore's Dilemma, an extraordinary investigation into the human lives at the heart of the American grocery store The miracle of the supermarket has never been more apparent. Like the doctors and nurses who care for the sick, suddenly the men and women who stock our shelves and operate our warehouses are understood as 'essential' workers, providing a quality of life we all too easily take for granted. But the sad truth is that the grocery industry has been failing these workers for decades. In this page-turning expose, author Benjamin Lorr pulls back the curtain on the highly secretive grocery industry. Combining deep sourcing, immersive reporting, and sharp, often laugh-out-loud prose, Lorr leads a wild investigation, asking what does it take to run a supermarket? How does our food get on the shelves? And who suffers for our increasing demands for convenience and efficiency? In this journey: We learn the secrets of Trader Joe's success from Trader Joe himself Drive with truckers caught in a job they call "sharecropping on wheels" Break into industrial farms with activists to learn what it takes for a product to earn certification labels like "fair trade" and "free range" Follow entrepreneurs as they fight for shelf space, learning essential tips, tricks, and traps for any new food business Journey with migrants to examine shocking forced labor practices through their eyes The product of five years of research and hundreds of interviews across every level of the business, The Secret Life of Groceries is essential reading for those who want to understand our food system--delivering powerful social commentary on the inherently American quest for more and compassionate insight into the lives that provide it.

The Art of Happiness at Work Dalai Lama 2004-09-07

From the authors who brought you the million-copy bestseller The Art of Happiness comes an exploration of job, career, and finding the ultimate happiness at work. Over the past several years, Howard Cutler has continued his conversations with the Dalai Lama, asking him the questions we all want answered about how to find happiness in the place we spend most of our time. Work—whether it's in the home or at an office—is what mostly runs our lives. We depend on it to eat, to clothe and shelter ourselves, and to take care of our families. Beginning with a direct correlation between productivity and happiness, Dr. Cutler questions His Holiness about the nature of work. In psychiatry and according to the Dalai Lama, our motivation for working determines our level of satisfaction. The book explores three levels of focus: survival, career, and calling. Once again, Cutler walks us through the Dalai Lama's reasoning so that we know how to apply the wisdom to daily life. This practical application of Buddhist ideas is an invaluable source of strength and peace for anyone who earns a living.

Crying in H Mart Michelle Zauner 2023-03-28 NEW YORK TIMES BEST SELLER • From the indie rock sensation known as Japanese Breakfast, an unforgettable memoir about family, food, grief, love, and growing up Korean American—“in losing her mother and cooking to bring her back to life, Zauner became herself” (NPR) • CELEBRATING OVER ONE YEAR ON THE NEW YORK TIMES BEST SELLER LIST In this exquisite story of family, food, grief, and endurance, Michelle Zauner proves herself far more than a dazzling singer, songwriter, and guitarist. With humor and heart, she tells of growing up one of the few Asian American kids at her school in Eugene, Oregon; of struggling with her mother's particular, high expectations of her; of a painful adolescence; of treasured months spent in her grandmother's tiny apartment in Seoul, where she and her mother would bond, late at night, over heaping plates of food. As she grew up, moving to the East Coast for college, finding work in the restaurant industry, and performing gigs with her fledgling band--and meeting the man who would become her husband--her Koreanness began to feel ever more distant, even as she found the life she wanted to live. It was her mother's diagnosis of terminal cancer, when Michelle was twenty-five, that forced a reckoning with her identity and brought her to reclaim the gifts of taste, language, and history her mother had given her.

Vivacious and plainspoken, lyrical and honest, Zauner's voice is as radiantly alive on the page as it is onstage. Rich with intimate anecdotes that will resonate widely, and complete with family photos, Crying in H Mart is a book to cherish, share, and reread.

Witchy Goes Shopping Dianne Boles 2010 It's Witchy's birthday, and she decides to make some special party food--but alas, the cupboard is bare, and she can't remember the magic word to restock it.

There's nothing for it but to go to the supermarket, so off she goes with her shopping list. On arrival, she discovers she's left her glasses behind so has to peer closely at everything because she can't read any of the labels. Children will laugh as they see her putting blueberries into her trolley, thinking they are spider eggs, spaghetti for worms, chocolate chips for mouse droppings, raspberry sauce for dragon's blood and so on . . . and when she gets home she finds that, although she doesn't have what she came for, she really does have the ingredients for a lovely party!

Zen and the Art of Grocery Shopping John Karolefski
2019-11-09 Everything about grocery shopping is stressful nowadays. On Sampling Day, you have to park your car in the next zip code. You can't find a shopping cart without a sticky handlebar. Checkout lines are too long, but you can't buy beer at the self-checkout. We're flummoxed. In search of tranquility, Zen and the Art of Grocery Shopping takes us on a rollicking ride through today's supermarket. Topics include: - Shopping cart

Ready To Use Humorous Food Shopping Illustrations

courtesy - Grocery delivery by drone - Politically-correct shopping - The difference between sell-by, eat-by, and bye-bye - And more... What's Zen got to do with it? Plenty. Zen is feeling peaceful and relaxed as we seek answers to the questions that keep us up at night: How should we celebrate National Canned Food Month? Why are some eggs brown? Is non-meat more nutritious than meat meat? And which checkout line is truly the fastest? To become enlightened today, accept that the best is all around you and sometimes on sale. Stress the lack of stress. Embrace a shopping cart with squeaky wheels. And if your favorite brand of frozen string beans is out of stock, give peas a chance. ABOUT THE AUTHOR John Karolefski is a professional journalist who has written about supermarkets and food shopping for over 25 years. He has thrilled audiences at grocery conferences and discussed shopping shenanigans on radio (ABC, CBS, BBC) and television (CNN). Karolefski also writes a blog about supermarkets at GroceryStories.com. He has tramped through hundreds of supermarkets around the U.S. and in Europe in search of Zen. The result is this compendium of stories, penetrating analyses, and gripes that hilariously illustrate what all of us must do calmly: shop, eat, and repeat.
