Enjoying the Track of Term: An Emotional Symphony within The Long Arm

In some sort of consumed by displays and the ceaseless chatter of quick communication, the melodic elegance and emotional symphony produced by the written word usually fade in to the backdrop, eclipsed by the constant noise and disruptions that permeate our lives. But, set within the pages of The Long Arm a stunning fictional value brimming with organic feelings, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Constructed by a masterful musician of language, this interesting masterpiece conducts readers on an emotional trip, well unraveling the concealed melodies and profound affect resonating within each carefully constructed phrase. Within the depths of the moving evaluation, we will explore the book is key harmonies, analyze their enthralling publishing design, and surrender ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.

Longarm owes his life to a man in handcuffs...

Mild-mannered postal thief Brian Henry is not about to give Deputy U.S. Marshal Custis Long any trouble on the ride back to Denver for trial. After being double-crossed by a tantalizing temptress who took his money, Brian is good and licked. In fact, when Longarm is pistol-whipped by highwaymen, it's his polite prisoner who comes to his aid and makes no attempt to escape as the lawman rides off to rescue a beautiful woman kidnapped by the desperadoes. But when the gun smoke clears, will this be Longarm's last showdown?

The Long Arm of Coincidence Magnús Fjalldal 1998 Scholars in Old Norse and Old English studies have for years sought to find a connection between BEOWULF and GRETTIS SAGA, despite great differences in the composition, time period, and country of origin of the two works. Here Magnus Fjalldal challenges old assumptions and makes constructive suggestions as to how seeming parallels could have arisen in two texts so separated by time, culture, and geography.

Longarm 346 Tabor Evans 2007-08-28 This haunt's shaking in his boots... Hightailing to Trinidad, US Deputy Marshal Custis Long is in chilling pursuit of axe-murderer Quincy 'Spook'

Lomax. Easy to spot in a crowd by his towering height and deadly-pale skin, this ghoulish being has been filling up frontier graveyards for far too long. And Longarm's got free rein to put this soulless slaughterer down—without trial. Spanning one territory to the next, he's rustling up Spook's posse and making the deadly dogs talk. And the closer he gets, the more gruesome the trail becomes. Whichever way this showdown storms in, Longarm is damn sure to send one white-faced phantom back into the hell he came from...

Longarm 270: Longarm and the Lady Bandit Tabor Evans 2001-05-01 Longarm's looking to lasso a felonious female... Custis T. Long's a sucker for a pretty gal, but he's never let that cloud his judgment—until now. When Miss Alvina Lockwood came along and begged him to bail her “innocent” brother out of a horse-stealing charge, he checked up on her story—though maybe not as closely as he would have if she weren't such a tempting tidbit. But when a sting operation set up to capture the real thieves goes awry, Longarm's left wondering about Alvina—and her possible connections to a bandit known only as Kansas City Red. It seems Red is a fiery—and clever—little filly who's got people on both sides of the law chasing their tails. But Longarm learns from his mistakes, and he won't get fooled again. After all, there are plenty of pretty ladies in the West, but a man can't sow his oats when he's planted six feet under...

Longarm's gone to the dogs... The town of Crazy Kate, once known as Little Bucharest, was renamed after Katarina Barkova not only went mad after a wolf killed her beau but—legend has it—turned into a werewolf. When Longarm rides in with a prisoner in tow, the townspeople have a haunted look in their eyes. His arrival coincides with the next full moon—and the outlaw with him bears the marks of a wolf attack. The local law may be armed to the teeth with silver bullets, but Longarm aims to get to the bottom of the werewolf legend. Accompanied by a frisky general's daughter and his Winchester '73, he's ready for anything. But as the full moon rises, the lawman expects he's in for a long night...and a whole pack of trouble.

Longarm 380 Tabor Evans 2010-06-29 Longarm busts up a smuggling ring... Deputy U.S.

Marshal Custis Long's been sent down El Paso way to break up a smuggling ring dealing in human cargo—Chinese laborers. Going undercover using the alias Nathan James, Longarm waits for his moment to catch the smugglers red-handed crossing the Rio Grande. While in town, Longarm is befriended by a brother and sister. Bob Temple is a one-armed man who wants “Nathan James” to give him a hand in a bank robbery south of the border. His lonely sister Bobbi has other plans for Longarm...which won't require him to wear his gun belt.

Longarm 252: Longarm and the Four Corners Gang Tabor Evans 1999-11-01 Some outlaws are gonna pay for their crimes—in blood! Longarm likes to work alone, but when a beautiful woman with near-perfect aim volunteers throws in her rifle to help him catch a gang of vicious outlaws, how can he turn her down?

Long-Armed Ludy and the First Women's Olympics Jean L. S. Patrick 2017-08-08 Lucile “Ludy” Godbold was six feet tall and skinnier than a Carolina pine and an exceptional athlete. In her final year on the track team at Winthrop College in South Carolina, Ludy tried the shot put and she made that iron ball sail with her long, skinny arms. But when Ludy qualified for the first Women's Olympics in 1922, Ludy had no money to go. Thanks to the help of her college and classmates, Ludy traveled to Paris and won the gold medal with more than a foot to spare. Hooray for Ludy! Based on a true story about a little-known athlete and a unique event in women's sports history.

Longarm 370 Tabor Evans 2009-08-25 Longarm is outnumbered—and outgunned—on a ride straight to hell! Deputy U. S. Marshal Custis Long has had plenty of impossible missions. But his new undercover assignment riding shotgun for a robbery-plagued stagecoach line started at bad and quickly got worse. The gang he's after has four stolen stashes and four dead guards notched on its belt...and is gunning to make him number five. And the beautiful blonde heiress he has to protect and the prissy city lady looking for excitement are only making Longarm's job twice as hard... Now the marshal and a coach-full of innocent passengers are pinned down in a remote valley far from help. And with time running out, the only chance Longarm has is to outshoot and outmaneuver the vicious gang in the deadliest showdown of his career...

Longarm #287: Longarm and the Blackmailers Tabor Evans 2002-09-24 The desert sun, two smoldering sisters, and a criminal packing heat sure can burn a fella! For years, a certain sleazy customs officer by the name Braddock has been turning a pretty penny on the Mexican border. Not by doing right by Uncle Sam, but by taking bribes. And his clients always make good on their bribes—or end up floating face down in the Rio Grande. Deputy Marshal Custis Long knows it'll be a long shot tracking this weasel to his den, for the border's long and the river, wide. But along his haphazard path, Longarm finds some luck. A bewitching mistress of the black arts bodes him strength. And he comes across some hombres only too willing to help find Braddock, his ruthless pard, Harrigan, and his horse-thievin' posse of cutthroats. The patron of el rancho Sisters of Fire, for one, would like to see the lot of them hang for kidnapping his sister. And even though the owlhoots keep slipping through his fingers, Longarm won't rest until they're slumbering in a permanent siesta...

Catch Rope John R. Erickson 1994 For more than a hundred years, American cowboys have made their living through the skilled use of horse and rope. Whole libraries have been devoted to the horse, but no one, until now, has written a thorough study of the origins and evolution of ranch roping—which differs from arena roping as practiced by rodeo cowboys. Author/cowboy John Erickson studies ranch roping from every angle: its origins in the Old World; old-time loops and throws; the influence of modern team roping; and the endless debate between those cowboys who rope "hard and fast" and those who "dally." Mixing scholarship with his working--cowboy's knowledge of the subject, Erickson tells stories of cowboys who could not resist fitting their loops on "things that ort not to be roped," such as elk, deer, badgers, bears, and bobcats. He tells of jackrabbit roping contests, and of cowboys who roped mice, geese, hogs, wives, or a runaway milk wagon. Anyone who has ever "built a loop" or even thought about it will find this book hard to put down.

Long Arm Quarterback Matt Christopher 2009-12-19 Cap Wadell loves football; unfortunately, living in a rural town of 1,223 people makes putting together a team a little difficult. His grandfather suggests that Cap organize a local six-man team and play with other surrounding small towns. Recruiting players, finding uniforms, locating a field to play on, and securing a rule book are all easily done, but one major problem remains -- who is going to coach this team? Cap thinks his grandfather is perfect for the job, but trouble strikes when another grandfather thinks Cap's grandfather is playing favorites by putting Cap at quarterback. An old-time rivalry is about to heat up again as the grandfathers battle it out off the field and Cap and the other grandson battle it out on field. As the generations clash, nobody is exactly sure who will succeed and play the coveted quarterback position. Who in the end will prevail?

Longarm 341 Tabor Evans 2007-03-27
Beautiful—and deadly... A murderous mountain man and his two devilish daughters are on the rampage up in the foothills of the Rockies. The beguiling beauties act as bait for unsuspecting prospectors, then the whole family—including their pet wolf—pulls an ambush. U.S. Marshal Custis Long teams up with a sexy female marshal and her tracker uncle to find the hellcats. Now he just has to marshal his defenses against their feminine wiles long enough to bring these wild women to justice...

The Long Arm Samuel Major Gardenhire 1906
Longarm Double #1 Tabor Evans 2008-07-29 Double-barreled action—the first two Longarms in one volume! LONGARM Longarm has a new mission. Ride to Crooked Lance. Pick up Cotton Younger, killer cousin of Jesse James, from the town jail. Bring him to trial. It should be easy. Except for one thing: Deputy Kincaid has already tried it. And Deputy Kincaid is nowhere to be found. Nobody at Crooked Lance wants Longarm to do his job—not the beautiful widow woman, or the Federal Agent, or the James gang—but Longarm never gives up when he has work to do. Even if it kills him... LONGARM ON THE BORDER The Mexicans claim it's a Texas town. The Texans say it's Mex. Los Perros. A tough, old cow-camp of border-jumpers and price-tagged rustlers—with a “hanging” sheriff of flexible sympathies. The Feds want it cleaned up, the cattle thieves flushed out, the vanished lawmen found. Only one man can do it...

Longarm 272: Longarm and the Six-Gun

Senorita Tabor Evans 2001-07-01 Longarm's looking for guns in all the wrong places! Longarm is assigned to recover a cache of Army rifles stolen out of Texas and smuggled across the border into Mexico. A wild bandit named Mendoza and a faction of insurgents known as Los Ninos de Libertad—The Children of Liberty—are the most likely suspects—but which one is the guilty party? Before he can even begin to investigate, the U.S. Deputy Marshal finds himself caught in a crossfire between an uncooperative Texas Ranger, a hotheaded ranch hand, and a sultry schoolmarm hiding more than her virtue. Longarm has no choice but to sneak into Mexico—where he has no jurisdiction—and find the missing weapons without starting a shootin' war...

Longarm 321: Longarm and the Little Lady

Tabor Evans 2005-07-26 Little lady...big trouble! For U.S. Deputy Marshal Custis Long, retrieving a fugitive from Wisconsin and escorting him to Fort Smith is one wearisome duty. Luckily, fellow traveler Miss Eloise Stephens is willing to provide Longarm with some stimulating diversions. But while enjoying being wanted by such a fine filly, Longarm finds himself wanted by those with a far less loving nature. Someone is itchin' for him to get dead, someone who knows his whereabouts every step of the way...

The Longarm #435 Tabor Evans 2015-01-27
 Longarm helps a beautiful wife find her man...
 After Bethlehem Bacon's husband goes missing while out surveying on the Wind River Indian Reservation, Deputy U.S. Marshal Custis Long heads out to Wyoming Territory to lead the search. And when the beautiful Beth insists on accompanying him, Longarm finds himself distracted by desire for the sizzling Mrs. Bacon. But bushwhackers' bullets quickly bring Longarm's senses back into sharp focus. Someone is trying to stop them from learning her husband's fate. Once they reach the reservation, Longarm realizes he may have jumped from the frying pan into the fire. With shooters on every bluff, the lawman will have to rely on steely nerves, a quick draw and a steady aim to smoke out the fatback bastards and save their bacon...

 Longarm's lost a friend, but he's not about to lose the fight... After saving soiled dove Lucy Potter from two attackers, Longarm takes pity on the young woman. He buys her a new dress, gets her cleaned up, and takes her out for a fancy steak dinner. Lucy's got a good heart, and Longarm hopes his kindness might encourage the jaded prostitute to try another line of work. But before Lucy can begin her new life, she's killed by the same men who attacked her. Blinded by rage, Longarm can no longer see the line between justice and revenge. He turns in his badge and rides off after the killers. But as he trails them to Rock Springs, he learns the killing was premeditated—and greed was the motive...

Longarm #408 Tabor Evans 2012-10-30

Longarm braces a cackling killer... There's nothing funny about the cold-blooded crimes of the bank robber and murderer known as Laughing Lyle May. After he robbed the Stoneville bank, he trapped the tellers and patrons inside—and set the place ablaze. Now, Deputy Marshal Custis Long is on the heinous hyena's trail, tracking him to a little town called Nowhere. There he discovers Lyle—wounded and unconscious on a doctor's table—but the stolen loot is nowhere to be found. No one seems to have seen the cash, though an amorous preacher's daughter offers to let the lawman search her. Longarm is sure someone is up to some funny business, and he's determined to make sure they don't have the last laugh...

Longarm Giant 27 Tabor Evans 2008-09-30
Longarm GIANT novels...the biggest and best in Western adventure! Up in the Owl Creek Mountains, Wyoming Territory, lies a wretched place the Indians call Valley of Skulls. Settlers there have had a whole heap of bad luck—including a posse of hooded killers—which is why U.S. Marshal Custis Long's stepping in... On the way, Longarm's kept company with the local agent's curvy sister, whose prudish dress belies a burning desire. But once they reach the valley, it's all business—a bloody business. Because now Longarm's to-do list includes taking a slimy rancher down a peg and finding this elusive, faceless posse—before they find him...

The Long Arm of Moore's Law Cyrus C. M. Mody 2016-12-09
How, beginning in the mid 1960s, the US semiconductor industry helped shape changes in American science, including a new orientation to the short-term and the commercial. Since the mid 1960s, American science has undergone significant changes in the way it is organized, funded, and practiced. These changes include the decline of basic research by corporations; a new orientation toward the short-term and the commercial, with pressure on universities and government labs to participate in the market; and the promotion of interdisciplinarity. In this book, Cyrus Mody argues that the changes in American science that began in the 1960s co-evolved with and were shaped by the needs of the “civilianized” US semiconductor industry. In 1965, Gordon Moore declared that the most profitable number of circuit components that can be crammed on a single silicon chip doubles every year. Mody views “Moore's Law” less as prediction than as self-fulfilling prophecy, pointing to the enormous investments of capital, people, and institutions the semiconductor industry required—the “long arm” of Moore's Law that helped shape all of science. Mody offers a series of case studies in microelectronics that illustrate the reach of Moore's Law. He describes the pressures on Stanford University's electrical engineers during the Vietnam era, IBM's exploration of alternatives to semiconductor technology, the emergence of consortia to integrate research across disciplines and universities, and the interwoven development of the the molecular electronics community and associated academic institutions as the vision of a molecular computer informed the restructuring of research programs.

The Long Arm of Gil Hamilton Larry Niven 1976
Gil Hamilton was more than an operative for ARM, the elite global police force. His intuition was peerless, his psychic powers were devastating. But he had enemies in inner and outer space. In order to stay alive, he always had to be armed for death.

The Long Arm of the Law Martin Edwards
2018-01-02 Mystery crime fiction written in the Golden Age of Murder "Tired of newspaper headlines that accuse cops of malfeasance or worse? Veteran editor Edwards has the perfect antidote: 15 reprints of stories from 1908 to 1966 showing English police officers at (generally) their most sterling." —Kirkus Reviews In classic British crime fiction, dazzling detective work is often the province of a brilliant amateur—whereas the humble police detective cuts a hapless figure. The twelve stories collected here strike a blow for the professionals, with teasing mysteries to challenge a hard-working police officer's persistence and scrupulous attention to detail. As in his previous anthologies for the British Library Crime Classics series, Martin Edwards introduces readers to fascinating neglected gems of British crime writing as well as uncovering lesser-known stories by the great novelists of the golden age. Each of these stories combines realism with entertainment, skilfully blending the conduct of a criminal investigation with a compelling murder-mystery plot.
